Fetters which have shackled the Russian bear for 22 years—internal needs, Stalin's anti-Trotsky policy of domestic development as precursor to spread of international Communism, and the early military weakness of the U. S. S. R.—today showed signs of weakening rapidly.

Russia began breaking her bonds under the inspiration of German expansion when naval and military concessions were wrested under armed pressure from the Soviets' Baltic neighbors, Latvia, Lithuania and Estonia.

Now Finland's delegation has arrived once more in Moscow to take up negotiations, and the dread of Soviet aggrandizement has spread not only to the Balkan states, but even to the historically tranquil Scandinavian countries.

Neutral diplomatic quarters in London heard that Russia has decided to eschew military measures against the Balkan states, but to inaugurate a policy of strapping a red belt around Rumania—possessor of the unreddeared Russian province of Bessarabia.

London circles said Communist quarters are fomenting rebellion in Bulgaria, and a similar move is planned for Yugoslavia later. Italy, on the other hand, is backing up King Boris of Bulgaria in his stand against communizing his kingdom.

One of the most revolutionary tendencies in modern history, however, is indicated in Scandinavian fears that Russia proposes to duplicate Chancellor Hitler's idea of a "Drang Nach Osten" with a push westward towards the Atlantic.

13 YOUTHS FLEE ILLINOIS SCHOOL OF CORRECTION

ST. CHARLES, Ill., Nov. 2—State police, acting in concert with squads of local deputies and authorities of all nearby towns, today pushed a vigorous search for a gang of young toughs who overpowered an attendant and fled last night from the St. Charles School for Boys.

Thirteen youths participated in the break. Early today none had been recaptured.

The wholesale break raised to 76 the number of St. Charles inmates who have fled the institution this year. Ages of the fugitives ranged from 17 to 20 years.

According to Supt. William T. Harmon, the mass escape occurred shortly after the dinner hour last night while 20 boys were in the basement recreation room of one of the cottages on the St. Charles grounds. Suddenly, a dozen of the youths jumped on Assistant Recreational Director Fletcher Thompson, 29-year-old Negro. Thompson went down under a shower of blows.

Seven of the youths present refused to take part in the break, but the others forced Thompson to open the basement door, through which they fled.

HOTEL ROOMS ENTERED; LODGERS REPORT THEFTS

Three rooms in the New American Hotel were burglarized sometime Wednesday and clothing was stolen, police were informed.

Fred Joyce, New Castle, Ind., reported a suit of clothes, overcoat, sweater, three ties, an American Legion pin and B. P. O. Elks pin missing. Arthur Cochrane, Hillsboro, reported a suit of clothes and electric razor missing from his room. An overcoat and shirt were reported stolen from the room of J. A. Windmiller, 1009 Parkway Drive, Columbus.

Police said they believed a skeleton key was used to enter the rooms.

Pressure To Be Applied On Governor In Effort To Win Solons' Session

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—If sales tax receipts for each of the last five years had reached the original estimate of $60,000,000, Ohio counties today would not be burdened with school, administrative and relief financial difficulties, O. P. Van Schoick, chief relief examiner in the state auditor's office, contended today.

According to reports, a British freighter sent out S. O. S. calls, reporting she was being attacked. The sub was reported 450 miles off United States shore. WORKMEN SPEED REPAIRS ON BIG CITY FIRE TRUCK

Circleville firemen kept their fingers crossed Thursday hoping that no fire calls are received before Friday afternoon. The city has two fire trucks and both are out of commission.

Fire Chief Talmer Wise said the big truck developed some trouble when used on a call early Thursday. An inspection later revealed the clutch for both driving the truck and operating the pump was out of commission. Repairs being made by men from the Seagraves Corporation, Columbus, will not be completed before Friday afternoon.

The city's old truck, used for rural calls, has been out of commission for some time. It can be used only as a hose wagon.

"If we have a fire we'll have to organize a bucket brigade," the chief said. Hoses can be hauled on the old truck but it is impossible to do any pumping.

HUGE OFF-YEAR VOTE EXPECTED BY OHIO EXPERT

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—A record off-year total of 2,500,000 votes will be cast in next Tuesday's election, George Neffner, election statistician in the Secretary of State's office, predicted today.

The previous high off-year vote cast was in 1933 when 2,282,401 Ohioans went to the polls to vote on repeal of the 18th amendment to the national constitution, 10-mill tax limitation and the present old age pension system.

F. D.'S FOREIGN POLICY DEPENDS ON ARMS TEST

Roll Call Votes Expected To Decide Vital Issue In Lower Chamber

OHIOAN HAS QUESTION

Vorys Would Alter Motion Of Easterner; New Deal Claims Advantage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—With President Roosevelt's foreign policy at stake, the house of representatives votes today on the administration's proposal to repeal the Neutrality Act's embargo on arms shipments to belligerents.

The New Deal bill—passed by the senate 63 to 30—substitutes for the embargo a law permitting sale of military as well as non-military commodities to warring nations on a cash-and-carry basis.

As the showdown approached today, it appeared three big issues would be thrust before the house to be decided on roll call votes. They were:

1. A motion to instruct house neutrality bill conferees to write into the senate repeal legislation a blanket embargo on "arms, ammunition and implements of war," offered by Rep. Shanley (D) Connecticut.

2. Modification of the Shanley motion providing for embargo on "arms and ammunition," specifically including "bombs, torpedoes, poison gas and flame throwers," but excluding non-military airplanes—offered by Rep. Vorys (R) Ohio.

3. A proposal by Rep. Wolcott (R) Michigan prohibiting use of federal agencies such as the Export-Import bank and RFC for financing war exports.

There was a possibility that the Shanley and Vorys moves might be merged, providing a chance under the rules for submission of additional proposals. However, it appeared that the leaders had agreed to scrap a proposal by Rep. Corbett (R) Pennsylvania for deleting from the senate bill provisions empowering President Roosevelt to designate "combat zones" through which American vessels might not move.

Administration forces claimed a majority of "at least 25 votes" for repeal as the house fight neared its close and with voting scheduled to begin shortly after 2 p. m. Opponents insisted that the votes would be "very close," and some of their leaders maintained the house would vote to retain the embargo. Vorys expressed confidence in his modified embargo proposal.

OHIO DEMOCRATS ASKED TO VOTE 'NO' ON RIPPER

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—Democratic State Chairman Arthur L. Limbach today asked all party members to spend the next few days lining up opposition to the Republican administration's civil service "ripper bill." Limbach urged all party followers to vote "no" on the service referendum next Tuesday.

Limbach also asked voters to defeat the proposed amendment to create a state board of education. He made no mention of the two Bigelow amendments which will appear on the same ballot. In connection with the referendum, Limbach said:

"Briefly, this act, if approved next Tuesday, would nullify the recent Supreme Court decision assuring protection for provisional civil service employees; it would not recognize seniority of service; and, most important of all, it would replace the present bi-partisan two-member civil service commission with a purely partisan three-member board, with two members appointed by the present governor. It would place in his hands the power to use the public service for his own political purposes."

FRENCH REPORT NAZI ATTEMPTS TO WEAKEN LINE

BERLIN, Nov. 2—No major change in the situation is expected on the Western Front "for the next eight days," informed Berlin quarters said today.

There was no immediate indication as to whether some important activity was anticipated at the expiration of this period.

PARIS, Nov. 2—Centering their activity on the Western Front between the towns of Saarlouis and Saareguemines, German troops today continued small offensive movements testing the strength of allied opposition on the most westerly section of the French-German frontier.

These persistent probing efforts, designed to find the most advantageous spots against which to launch an offensive—if one is coming this autumn—were resumed after this morning's official French communique, No. 119, announced, "The night was generally quiet."

Two French villages immediately inside the frontier, one opposite Saarlouis and the other near Saareguemines, were subjected to attacks in which the Germans used forces no larger than a company.

French troops holding the village opposite Saarlouis were taken by surprise when two German (Continued on Page Four)

PIQUA SAVINGS AND LOAN YEGGS EVADE CAPTURE

PIQUA, Nov. 2—State highway patrolmen today sought three bandits who yesterday held up and robbed the Third Savings and Loan Company of $1,726 and then eluded pursuit over Miami County backroads. The pursuers failed to obtain the license number of the getaway car.

The bandit trio, described as being well dressed and in their middle thirties, herded two employees and a customer into a washroom while they scooped up the cash from drawers and the vault. Two patrons who entered the office during the robbery were forced to join those in the small room.

GERMANY SAYS CITY OF FLINT CREW TO BE SAFE

COPENHAGEN, Nov. 2—America need not fear for the safety of the crew aboard the captured freighter City of Flint, an authoritative Berlin spokesman told the Berlingske Tidende today.

"The crew merely will be brought to a German port," he said. "We are not going to torpedo the ship."

In Lower Chamber

OHIOAN HAS QUESTION

Vorys Would Alter Motion
Of Easterner; New Deal
Claims Advantage

WASHINGTON, Nov. 2—With President Roosevelt's foreign policy at stake, the house of representatives votes today on the administration's proposal to repeal the Neutrality Act's embargo on arms shipments to belligerents.
The New Deal bill—passed by the senate 63 to 30—substitutes for the embargo a law permitting sale of military as well as non-military commodities to warring nations on a cash-and-carry basis.
As the showdown approached today, it appeared three big issues would be thrust before the house to be decided on roll call votes.
They were:

1. A motion to instruct house neutrality bill conferees to write into the senate repeal legislation a blanket embargo on "arms, ammunition and implements of war," offered by Rep. Shanley (D) Connecticut.

2. Modification of the Shanley motion providing for embargo on "arms and ammunition," specifically including "bombs, torpedoes, poison gas and flame throwers"— but excluding non-military airplanes—offered by Rep. Vorys (R)
Ohio.

3. A proposal by Rep. Wolcott
(R) Michigan prohibiting use of federal agencies such as the Export-Import bank and RFC for financing war exports.

There was a possibility that the Shanley and Vorys moves might be merged, providing a chance under the rules for submission of additional proposals. However, it appeared that the leaders had agreed to scrap a proposal by Rep. Corbett (R) Pennsylvania for deleting from the senate bill provisions empowering President Roosevelt to designate "combat zones" through which American vessels might not move.

Administration forces claimed a majority of "at least 235 votes" for repeal as the house fight near-ed its close and with voting scheduled to begin shortly after 2 p. m.
Opponents insisted that the votes would be "very close," and some of their leaders maintained the house would vote to retain the embargo. Vorys expressed confidence in his modified embargo proposal.

OHIO DEMOCRATS ASKED TO VOTE 'NO' ON RIPPER

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—Democra-

bach today asked all party members to spend the next few days lining up opposition to the Republican administration's civil service
"ripper bill." Limbach urged all party followers to vote "no" on the service referendum next Tuesday.
Limbach also asked voters to defeat the proposed amendment to create a state board of education.
He made no mention of the two Bigelow amendments which will appear on the same ballot. In connection with the referendum, Limbach said:

"Briefly, this act, if approved next Tuesday, would nullify the recent Supreme Court decision assuring protection for provisional civil service employees; it would not recognize seniority of service; and, most important of all, it would replace the present bi-partihands the power to use the public

TAFT TO START HIS CAMPAIGN FOR OHIO VOTE

Senator Arranges Four Addresses In State; Program Outlined

SEVEN POINTS DISCUSSED

Cincinnati Says Warfare Must Take Back Seat To Domestic Troubles

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2.—A seven-point program advocating tax repeal and assailing federal spending will be launched tonight by U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft at Steubenville, where he will make the first of four speeches planned for Ohio. The Ohio Republican, strong possibility for the presidential nomination next year, announced his plans on his arrival in Columbus to discuss with party leaders the selection of delegates to GOP national convention.

The seven-point program follows:
1.—A reduction of federal expense which he said is still increasing, despite reductions in the WPA program.

2.—Repeal of the payroll tax, which he said is hampering business.

3. Repeal of the Capital gains tax, termed "unnecessary and a business deterrent."

4. Repeal of the Guffey coal act.

5. Balancing of the federal budget.

6. Abandonment of price fixing attempts in basic industries.

7.—Amendment of the National Labor Relations Act, which, Taft said, is desired by all business men because its administration is one-sided.

After his Steubenville speech tonight, Taft will return to Washington only long enough to vote on the conference report on the neutrality bill Friday. Taft regarded passage of the administration-sponsored neutrality measure, which repeals the present embargo on arms to warring nations, as a virtual certainty.

Domestic Tasks First

Since that is so, he said, domestic problems should begin to take precedence over the European war, and as a step in that direction he announced his campaign against New Deal policies.

"The foreign situation is secondary to the domestic problems and happiness of the American people," he declared. "The importance of balancing the budget, getting back to normal and encouraging the small businessmen to go ahead is foremost."

After Taft's return from Washington, he will attempt to pick up his speaking tour where he was forced to abandon it when Congress was called in special session to protect this nation's neutrality. Other speeches on his itinerary include those at Pittsburgh, Nov. 13; Ravenna, O., Nov. 14; Lima, O., Nov. 15; before the Ohio Chamber of Commerce at Cleveland, Nov. 16; at Kansas City, Nov. 20 and 21; at Omaha Nov. 23, and at Denver, Nov. 24 and 25.

Patterson Mentioned

After a conference yesterday with Republican State Chairman Ed Schorr, Taft inferred that many prominent Ohio Republicans were seeking places as delegates-at-large to the national GOP convention. The senator said they did not discuss a second "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination, but acknowledged that he had "heard" the name of Grover Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, who is to make Taft's nominating speech at the national convention.

PICK LEASES HOTEL

CHICAGO, Nov. 2.—Leasing of the Ohio Hotel, Youngstown, O., for a period of 20 years was announced today by Albert Pick, Jr., president of the Pick Hotel Corporation. Acquisition of the $2,500,000 property brings to seven the number of hotels operated by the chain in Ohio, in addition to nine others in other states. The lease called for a term rental of $1,250,000 plus a percentage of the gross receipts.

Questions CITY MANAGER Answers

Editor's Note: The following questions and answers concerning the city manager form of government have been submitted by the Chamber of Commerce committee in charge of the movement. Circleville votes next Tuesday on the question of formation of a charter commission which will draft a charter to be submitted to the citizens at a later election.

Briefly the main features of council-manager governments are as follows: A small council elected at large on a non-partisan ballot determines all municipal policies which are not set forth in the charter itself, adopts ordinances, votes appropriations, and is required to appoint a chief executive officer called a city manager.

The council is the governing body of the city and the city manager is its agent in carrying out the policies which it determines. The mayor who is usually elected by council from its own members, does not interfere with the administrative functions of the manager, nor do individual members of council. It is definitely understood that the council deals with administration only in a formal manner through ordinances and resolutions, and that administrative functions are at no time delegated to committees or to individual members of council.

The city manager, the head of the administrative branch, is appointed by the council as a whole. The theory is, and the charter usually provides, that he is selected on the basis of his training, ability and experience. The exercise of all administrative authority is concentrated in this appointed executive who is accountable to council. He provides council with information which enables it to determine municipal policies, advises the council in matters of policy if the council so desires, and executes the policies determined by council. He introduces the best principles of advanced administrative organization and practices and is held responsible for the proper co-ordination of all administrative activities under his direction.

The duties of the city manager as set forth in most council-manager charters, broadly stated, generally include the following:
1. To see that all laws and ordinances are enforced.
2. To exercise control over all departments and appoint, supervise, and remove department heads and subordinate employees of the city.
3. To make such recommendations to the council concerning the affairs of the city as may seem to him desirable.
4. To keep the council advised on the financial condition and future needs of the city.
5. To prepare and submit to the council the annual budget.
6. To prepare and submit to council such reports as may be required by that body.
7. To keep the public informed through reports to the council regarding the operations of the city government.

In addition the charter generally states that the manager is to perform such other duties as may be prescribed by the charter or required of him by ordinance or by resolution of the council.

INDIANA FLYER TO SERVE TIME AS MURDERER

MACON, Mo., Nov. 2.—Under a bargain with the law that helped him escape Missouri's lethal gas chamber, Earnest P. Pletch, 29-year-old Indiana flyer, today was under sentence to life imprisonment for the airplane slaying six days ago of Carl Bivens, 38, Brookfield, Mo., flying instructor.

In a surprise move, Pletch was brought to court just before the adjournment hour late yesterday. He pleaded guilty to a murder charge and was immediately sentenced by Circuit Judge Harry J. Libby.

Judge Libby said the sentence fulfilled the wish of Bivens' widow that Pletch not be given the death penalty. Pletch's part of the bargain was to promise he never would apply for a pardon or parole.

Events moved with almost fantastic swiftness after Pletch stole a plane from the Brookfield airport last Friday, taking Bivens with him. Bivens' body, with bullet holes in the head, was found in a field not far from Macon the following day, and that night Pletch was seized when he landed the stolen plane near Bloomington, Ind. He quickly confessed killing Bivens, first saying he had been forced to shoot the instructor when the latter backed out of an agreement to help Pletch steal the ship.

Later, however, Pletch admitted he had planned from the first to steal the plane himself, and he exonerated his victim of any part in the plot. He said he fired two bullets into Bivens' head while they were flying over Missouri.

HALF A MILLION LOST IN BLAZE ON WEST COAST

BENICIA, Cal., Nov. 2.—A $500,000 blaze, believed to have been caused by a defective light switch, swept the Whitmore Canning Co. property on the Benicia waterfront today, destroying two valuable fishing boats.

The fire was brought under control after it had gutted the company's huge plant, sheds and warehouses. Two hundred persons at work when the blaze was discovered escaped without injury.

ASHVILLE By S. D. Fridley Ashville, Phone 79

Don H. Ebright's tax stamp distributing truck with two husky and perfectly fine looking and friendly middle aged men aboard, was here yesterday leaving a part of their stamp supplies with The Ashville Bank for distribution among the sales people of the village and community. Cashier Willis very kindly accommodated us with figures of stamp sales at the bank for the past six weeks ending with Saturday, the 28th. The total sales for the weeks named, amount to $1079.23, the highest sales week being $304.73 and the least, $89.25. In a couple of the recent months the sale collections for the entire state almost doubled those of a year ago.

It is open season for candidates and we are wanting none to get away in our nearby territory if we can help it, so yesterday contacted some of the Walnut boys who are supposed to be next to what is going on out there. Told us all was quiet in political circles so far as they knew, Cecil Noecker being up to this time, the only candidate for township trustee to succeed himself, and that's that.

But in school official quarters its not so calm. There are three candidates for members of board of education with but two to elect, so that means a contest. Homer Reber and Russell Balthaser are present members and candidates to succeed themselves. Arthur Brown in East Ringold territory is the other one who is hoping to have one of the long counts when the election judges get through with their tally marking on November 7.

Will investigate political doings in Scioto and if things are quiet there that means the war is about over.

Madison and Harrison are smearing on more paint and will be at it right by election day. Ashville, though, is the really hot spot.

Just as we told you a couple of days ago, the village Dads in special session Monday evening, passed that $100 and costs ordinance for tearing up a few things on Halloween night and window soaping, autos too, go along in the same class. Too, Fred Curry was given a contract to erect the park shelter house at his bid of $1480. There was one other, that of Willard Barch whose bid was $1501. Plans for the structure were drawn by engineer Frank Baum.

The Methodist Church Sunday School classes were in Halloween session at the church entertainment basement Monday and had a plenty good time. The U. B.'s had their last night with eats and everything. Several prizes were given for both pretty and ugly ones. Among the winners were: Ruby Meadows, Jeraldine Cline, Dick Kuhlwein, Norma Jean Cantor, Bryan Grant, Ellis Cline.

NEW MATA HARI GOES TO PRISON

Geneva Finds Night Club Entertainer Guilty Of Espionage Charge

GENEVA Nov. 2.—Five dreary years in prison was the punishment imposed today on "Nina," the brunette dancer who essayed for the sake of thrills and glamor the role of the new war's Mata Hari.

Five federal judges found the 35-year-old international night club performer guilty of treason and espionage and gave her the full sentence demanded by the Swiss government prosecutor.

Paul Rochat, a former Swiss detective who allegedly informed Italian authorities of Swiss defense preparations, received a sentence of 15 months.

"Nina," whose real name is Virginia Capa Rota, was trapped in a Swiss anti-espionage drive which netted more than 300 persons. Her trial was the first major spy hearing since the European war began.

Counter-espionage agents believed that Signoria Rota, an Italian by birth, began babbling in the perilous game of spying merely because of the storied adventure connected with it. But as she grew more and more deeply involved, it was asserted, she became the "master mind" of a group which supplied information to several foreign countries.

"Nina" was well known to night club patrons in Paris, Rome, and Madrid before she took up spying. She became a Swiss citizen when she married a Swiss, whom she later divorced.

During her three days' trial the dark-eyed beauty maintained strict silence, but authorities linked her to a co-defendant, Roger Joel, former employee in a Swiss arms factory.

The dancer was caught as she tried to enter France, allegedly with Swiss military information including plans for a new anti-aircraft gun.

While in jail awaiting trial, said authorities, "Nina" went on two hunger strikes and tried to take her life by cutting her wrist with broken glass.

At last she was put in a prison hospital under day and night guard.

DEATH CHARGES ARE REDUCED TO ASSAULT COUNT

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2 — After deliberating five hours, a jury of 12 men returned a verdict of assault and battery in common pleas court against Richard Knight, 19, of East Cambridge, in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Ida Chambers, 19, of Evesville, it was announced today. The decision was reached last night.

Knight originally was indicted for manslaughter for allegedly shooting to death Miss Chambers on a street corner October 3. The victim's sister, Mrs. Edna Butler, 22, of Newark, was wounded by the same shotgun blast, police reported.

The youth contended he had not intended shooting the women. According to testimony, Knight, the two women and another youth had engaged in an argument in a beer parlor. Witnesses said the altercation was renewed later on a street corner and the shooting followed. Knight was given three days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

C. GILLINGWATER, VETERAN ACTOR, ENDS OWN LIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 — Poor health and his belief he never would be well again was blamed by police today for the suicide of Claude Gillingwater, 69-year-old veteran of the stage and screen.

Gillingwater, according to notes left to police, took his life in his Beverly Hills home late yesterday because "at my advanced age, in my physical condition, there is no chance of ever being well again, and I will not permit myself to become a helpless invalid."

He had insisted that his housekeeper for the last 12 years, Mrs. Leona De Brock, take the afternoon off. Then, on a small typewriter in his bedroom, he wrote four notes. Finally he pushed a chair into a closet, removed his coat, bared his shirt over his heart and sent a bullet crashing into his chest.

Mrs. De Brock found the body several hours later. In addition to the letter for the police, the actor had addressed notes to Mrs. De Brock, to his son, Claude Gillingwater Jr. and to his physician, Dr. Leland Hawkins.

Gillingwater had his Broadway stage debut years ago with Mrs. Leslie Carter in "Zaza." Eight years with David Belasco followed, and the actor made his first screen appearance with Mary Pickford in "Little Lord Fauntleroy" in 1921. Since that time he had noteworthy character roles in a long list of Hollywood productions.

TAFT TO START HIS CAMPAIGN FOR OHIO VOTE

Senator Arranges Four Addresses In State; Program Outlined

SEVEN POINTS DISCUSSED

Cincinnati Says Warfare Must Take Back Seat To Domestic Troubles

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—A seven-point program advocating tax repeal and assailing federal spending will be launched tonight by U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft at Steubenville, where he will make the first of four speeches planned for Ohio. The Ohio Republican, strong possibility for the presidential nomination next year, announced his plans on his arrival in Columbus to discuss with party leaders the selection of delegates to GOP national convention.

The seven-point program follows: 1.—A reduction of federal expense which he said is still increasing, despite reductions in the WPA program.

2.—Repeal of the payroll tax, which he said is hampering business.

3. Repeal of the Capital gains tax, termed "unnecessary and a business deterrent."

4. Repeal of the Guffey coal act.

5. Balancing of the federal budget.

6. Abandonment of price fixing attempts in basic industries.

7.—Amendment of the National Labor Relations Act, which, Taft said, is desired by all business men because its administration is one-sided.

After his Steubenville speech tonight, Taft will return to Washington only long enough to vote on the conference report on the neutrality bill Friday. Taft regarded passage of the administration-sponsored neutrality measure, which repeals the present embargo on arms to warring nations, as a virtual certainty.

Domestic Tasks First

Since that is so, he said, domestic problems should begin to take precedence over the European war, and as a step in that direction he announced his campaign against New Deal policies.

"The foreign situation is secondary to the domestic problems and happiness of the American people," he declared. "The importance of balancing the budget, getting back to normal and encouraging the small businessmen to go ahead is foremost."

After Taft's return from Washington, he will attempt to pick up his speaking tour where he was forced to abandon it when Congress was called in special session to protect this nation's neutrality. Other speeches on his itinerary include those at Pittsburgh, Nov. 13; Ravenna, O., Nov. 14; Lima, O., Nov. 15; before the Ohio Chamber of Commerce at Cleveland, Nov. 16; at Kansas City, Nov. 20 and 21; at Omaha Nov. 23, and at Denver, Nov. 24 and 25.

Patterson Mentioned

After a conference yesterday with Republican State Chairman Ed Schorr, Taft inferred that many prominent Ohio Republicans were seeking places as delegates-at-large to the national GOP convention. The senator said they did not discuss a second "favorite son" candidate for the presidential nomination, but acknowledged that he had "heard" the name of Grover Patterson, editor of the Toledo Blade, who is to make Taft's nominating speech at the national convention.

CHICAGO, Nov. 2—Leasing of the Ohio Hotel, Youngstown, O., for a period of 20 years was announced today by Albert Pick, Jr., president of the Pick Hotel Corporation. Acquisition of the $2,500,000 property brings to seven the number of hotels operated by the chain in Ohio, in addition to nine others in other states. The lease called for a term rental of $1,250,000 plus a percentage of the gross receipts.

Neal; and for one trustee, Merl Hinton, Leslie Fosnaugh, Elmer Beavers; and for the two places on the school board: Virgil Hill, William Rush, William Phillips and Mrs. Crawford. This information is given us by one of the citizens over there who should know all about everything and have it correct. Muehlenburg, too, have a lot of people who are sure they'll be mighty good officials when they get in but the getting's where the trouble comes in. There are three for clerk: Lloyd White, Gene Hastings, Zeb Smith. Four for trustee (one to elect) Harry Hill, Floyd Brigner, Henry Tener, Charles Stoer. And for school board, Arthur Radcliff, Paul Boucher.

WILHELM TURNS DOWN HITLER'S APPEAL FOR AID

LONDON, Nov. 2 — Former Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany has refused a request by Chancellor Hitler to sign a proclamation approving the war against Britain and France, the Daily Mirror said today.

The paper asserted that the ex-kaiser, now exiled in the Netherlands, was promised that his former allowance of £1750 a month, which had been reduced, would be restored.

AT WRONG FUNERAL

ASTORIA, Ore. — A group of distant relatives and mourners sat through a funeral service for Jacob Wainio and then found that they were at the wrong funeral. The Jacob Wainio they knew was very much alive and fishing in a trolling boat out of Gray's harbor.

NEW MATA HARI GOES TO PRISON

Geneva Finds Night Club Entertainer Guilty Of Espionage Charge

GENEVA Nov. 2—Five dreary years in prison was the punishment imposed today on "Nina," lithe brunette dancer who essayed for the sake of thrills and glamor the role of the new war's Mata Hari.

Five federal judges found the 35-year-old international night club performer guilty of treason and espionage and gave her the full sentence demanded by the Swiss government prosecutor.

Paul Rochat, a former Swiss detective who allegedly informed Italian authorities of Swiss defense preparations, received a sentence of 15 months.

"Nina," whose real name is Virginia Rota, was trapped in a Swiss anti-espionage drive which netted more than 300 persons. Her trial was the first major spy hearing since the European war began.

Counter-espionage agents believed that Signorina Rota, an Italian by birth, began babbling in the perilous game of spying merely because of the storied adventure connected with it. But as she grew more and more deeply involved, it was asserted, she became the "master mind" of a group which supplied information to several foreign countries.

"Nina" was well known to night club patrons in Paris, Rome, and Madrid before she took up spying. She became a Swiss citizen when she married a Swiss, whom she later divorced.

During her three days' trial the dark-eyed beauty maintained strict silence, but authorities linked her to a co-defendant, Roger Joel, former employee in a Swiss arms factory.

The dancer was caught as she tried to enter France, allegedly with Swiss military information including plans for a new anti-aircraft gun.

While in jail awaiting trial, said authorities, "Nina" went on two hunger strikes and tried to take her life by cutting her wrist with broken glass.

At last she was put in a prison hospital under day and night guard.

DEATH CHARGES ARE REDUCED TO ASSAULT COUNT

CAMBRIDGE, Nov. 2 — After deliberating five hours, a jury of 12 men returned a verdict of assault and battery in common pleas court against Richard Knight, 19, of East Cambridge, in connection with the fatal shooting of Miss Ida Chambers, 19, of Byesville, it was announced today. The decision was reached last night.

Knight originally was indicted for manslaughter for allegedly shooting to death Miss Chambers on a street corner October 3. The victim's sister, Mrs. Edna Butler, 22, of Newark, was wounded by the same shotgun blast, police reported.

The youth contended he had not intended shooting the women. According to testimony, Knight, the two women and another youth had engaged in an argument in a beer parlor. Witnesses said the altercation was renewed later on a street corner and the shooting followed. Knight was given three days in which to file a motion for a new trial.

C. GILLINGWATER, VETERAN ACTOR, ENDS OWN LIFE

HOLLYWOOD, Nov. 2 — Poor health and his belief he never would be well again was blamed by police today for the suicide of Claude Gillingwater, 69-year-old veteran of the stage and screen.

Gillingwater, according to notes left to police, took his life in his Beverly Hills home late yesterday because "at my advanced age, in my physical condition, there is no chance of ever being well again, and I will not permit myself to become a helpless invalid."

He had insisted that his housekeeper for the last 12 years, Mrs. Leona De Brock, take the after-

MILK BALLOT HELD UP

Aldermen Ready For Third
Vote On Motorcycle
Patrolman

Two ordinances transferring funds to various departments were passed by council Wednesday night.

One ordinance given a second reading and passed under suspension of rules appropriated $200 to the police department funds for incidentals. The original figure in the legislation was $300, but a reduction was made. The appropriation will be used largely for the upkeep of the police cruiser.

The other ordinance, read for the first time and passed under suspension of rules, listed the following transfers of funds: $700 to the engineering fund for salaries, $175 from the gasoline tax fund to the general fund for traffic lights, $1,500 from the gasoline tax fund to the general fund for labor on streets, $1,251.80 from the auto license fund to the general fund for labor on streets, $1,000 in the sewage disposal plant fund for materials and $53.30 in the pension fund.

The ordinance providing for a motorcycle patrolman in the police department, making its third trip through council after meeting defeat on two occasions, had its second reading Wednesday night. It will be up for a vote at the next meeting.

An ordinance regulating the sale of milk and milk products in the city was given a third reading, but a vote was delayed. This ordinance, a brief form, provides milk and milk products be sold in compliance with the 1939 edition of the U. S. Public Health Service Milk Ordinance, issued in pamphlet form. All councilmen favored a motion to delay a vote on the legislation for two reasons, the first being they did not understand the question clearly and second they were uncertain how the regulations would be enforced.

The name "Australia" was first applied to a group of South sea islands.

In a move to deflate the overwhelming ego of his creation, Charlie McCarthy, Edgar Bergen will reach into another suitcase to produce the country bumpkin, Mortimer Snerd, as his ventriloquist partner Sunday, November 5. But make no mistake about it. Charlie McCarthy will be right there to sneer at the efforts of Mr. Bergen to replace him while he cavorts about the country with "The Great Frederick."

MOSCOW, Nov. 2—Solidarity of the Scandinavian nations with Finland was reasserted today when the Finnish delegation to the Moscow conference returned to the Soviet capital and was met by the ministers from Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

The chief of protocol of the Soviet foreign office, M. Barkov, represented the Russian government when Dr. Juho Paasikivi and his conferees arrived at the station.

Most difficult of the problems to be ironed out in this, the third of a series of meetings, will be the Soviet demand for a naval base on the Hangoe peninsula on the Gulf of Finland.

The Russian request was put forward by Premier-Foreign Commissar Vyacheslav Molotov in his speech Tuesday, just as the Finns were leaving Helsinki. For a time there was grave doubt that they would continue their journey.

No time has been fixed yet for the Finns to meet Molotov in a parley wherein Dietator Joseph Stalin is likely to join.

HELSINGFORS, Nov. 2—Fully supported by the Scandinavian states, and with her border manned and sea-coasts mined, Finland today reaffirmed her determination to resist forcibly any Russian attempts to violate this republic's independence and neutrality.

As the Finnish delegation arrived in Moscow to try for a third time to reach an amicable agreement with Finland's powerful Bolshevik neighbor, Foreign Minister Elias Erkkola reiterated that major concessions were possible, but Finland was more resolute than ever not to bow before military pressure.

Erkkola's firm statement was called forth by the speech of Russian Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, revealing that Russia wanted rights to a naval base on the Hangoe peninsula and demilitarization of part of the Finnish frontier.

Molotov's allegation that Finland's resistance was inspired by the support of the United States and other powers was vigorously denied.

Chief Relief Examiner Says Receipts From Program Under Estimates

mortgaging the future or constantly depending on state aid.

Not Headache
"The relief problem would still have been with them but certainly wouldn't have been such a headache. School and administrative problems could have similarly met."

Endeavoring to explain the relief crisis which confronts the state, especially larger areas, Van Schoick put the situation this way:

"The legislature appropriated $10,000,000 a year for 1939 and 1940 as the state's share of direct relief. That is the amount it will pay out to the 88 counties during each of the two years, matching on a 50-50 basis up to that sum. "The direct relief bill for counties and the state for the first eight months of this year was $19,000,000. We anticipate expenditures of $7,500,000 for October, November and December. That leaves the counties stuck with a $6,500,000 headache."

May Force Session

Van Schoick was of the opinion that November and December would present relief problems which would bring heavy pressure on Gov. John W. Bricker to call a special session of the legislature.

man patrols suddenly swung into the hamlet from two sides. Several French prisoners were taken before the Germans were driven out by automatic rifle fire, with some house-to-house fighting in which the Germans lost a number of men.

This attack was not preceded by an artillery barrage, as was a similar maneuver about two miles northeast of Saaregumines. Nearly two hours of firing on the village brought a thundering French artillery counter-attack, which cut off the accompanying German infantry assault. Not only were the French able to drive back the enemy, it was stated in Paris, but a number of prisoners were captured.

Use of the dictaphone was explained and numerous photographs which have been valuable in court procedure were shown.

In answering questions in a forum session, Deputy Fissell pointed out that all of the equipment used in this department with the exception of a camera belongs to him.

SOVIET DEMANDS ON FINLAND MAY BRING STRUGGLE

Communists Striving For Rebellion In Balkans, Europe Hears

planning with Germany to divide Europe into Nazi and Communist spheres of influence. Russia's demands on Finland for naval control of the Gulf of Finland may be followed by similar pressure for naval facilities in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, according to Scandinavian fears.

For centuries the Scandinavian countries have been at peace with the world. Finland is standing resolutely against Russia, and has a large and well-trained army ready to protect her frontiers. But the Pacific Scandinavian countries have small armies, no compulsory training, and little equipment to wage a war.

Sweden already has mobilized 100,000 men and sent most of them northward to the Finnish frontier, and the three Scandinavian countries plus Finland could mass 1,000,000 soldiers, but they would hardly be formidable enough to halt for long the advance of Russia's army of more than 1,400,000 trained troops.

Scandinavia's main hope, therefore, rested on Germany—in spite of the ever-closer tie-up between Moscow and Berlin.

The belief in Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen was that while Berlin tolerated Russian expansion into the Baltic, Germany would not countenance extension of similar red influence to Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Defiant Finland, meanwhile, added to its defenses by mining the waters around the Hangoe peninsula—the very territory where Russia would like to establish fortifications and a naval base to safeguard the entrance to Leningrad.

On the French-German front affairs remained quiet, although patrols continued their reconnaissance activities and kept open the possibility—albeit the chance grows more remote—that an offensive may yet be opened this fall. Rain began falling again on the Western Front, washing out the possibility that drying weather would permit the start of a German push.

The one remaining center of international attention, the storied American freighter City of Flint, presumably continued her way down the Norwegian coast within territorial waters, and was due to pass the port of Bergen some time today, still in charge of her German prize crew.

yet submitted to the electors," he declared. The Bgelow initiative petition amendment, lowering the number of signatures required to get an issue on the ballot, is second to the pension proposal in importance, Neffner said. He predicted its defeat.

Neffner said the Civil Service referendum was "merely a political issue and probably will be overlooked by many voters."

The amendment proposing the creation of a department of education, presented through the practically unanimous vote of the members of the 93rd General Assembly also will be voted on by less electors than the Bigelow amendments, Neffner said.

ANOTHER ALLEY SECTION PREPARED FOR TRAFFIC

Paving of another section of the alley extending from the American Hotel on Court Street westward has been completed and will be opened to traffic next Monday.

Leonard Morgan, service director, said the last section completed is that between the alley extending from Main Street to Pinckney Street near the Seitz Building to the west end of the improved alley.

The horrified roommate, Barbara Taylor, 25, summoned police and an ambulance. While Miss Hudock fought against treatment at Mission emergency hospital, Dr. Edward Blasdel sutured the ragged edges of the tongue but was unable to graft the severed sections. He predicted she would recover and that she held an "even chance" of being able to talk again.

mortgaging the future or constantly depending on state aid.

Not Headache
"The relief problem would still have been with them but certainly wouldn't have been such a headache. School and administrative problems could have similarly met."

Endeavoring to explain the relief crisis which confronts the state, especially larger areas, Van Schoick put the situation this way:

"The legislature appropriated $10,000,000 a year for 1939 and 1940 as the state's share of direct relief. That is the amount it will pay out to the 88 counties during each of the two years, matching on a 50-50 basis up to that sum."

"The direct relief bill for counties and the state for the first eight months of this year was $19,000,000. We anticipate expenditures of $7,500,000 for October, November and December. That leaves the counties stuck with a $6,500,000 headache."

May Force Session
Van Schoick was of the opinion that November and December would present relief problems which would bring heavy pressure on Gov. John W. Bricker to call a special session of the legislature.

FRENCH REPORT NAZI ATTEMPTS TO WEAKEN LINE

man patrols suddenly swung into the hamlet from two sides. Several French prisoners were taken before the Germans were driven out by automatic rifle fire, with some house-to-house fighting in which the Germans lost a number of men.

This attack was not preceded by an artillery barrage, as was a similar maneuver about two miles northeast of Saareguemines. Nearly two hours of firing on the village brought a thundering French artillery counter-attack, which cut off the accompanying German infantry assault. Not only were the French able to drive back the enemy, it was stated in Paris, but a number of prisoners were captured.

DEPUTY TELLS ROTARIANS OF ANTI-CRIME FACTORS

Circleville Rotarians learned much about modern crime detection Thursday noon when Miller Fissell, deputy sheriff, provided the club's weekly program.

Deputy Fissell explained the use of scientific methods in tracing criminals, displaying a fingerprint camera and telling of methods used to obtain fingerprints. He discussed the process for obtaining tracks of automobiles, later matching the tire markings. Use of the dictaphone was explained and numerous photographs which have been valuable in court procedure were shown.

In answering questions in a forum session, Deputy Fissell pointed out that all of the equipment used in this department with the exception of a camera belongs to him.

NURSE WHO CUT TONGUE MAY BE ABLE TO SPEAK

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 2—Hiona Hudock, 35-year-old nurse who scissored off part of her tongue to prevent herself from talking "too much," held an even chance today of regaining her former powers of speech.

The nurse snipped off two pieces of her tongue yesterday while sitting at the kitchen table of a modest San Francisco apartment she shared with another woman.

The horrified roommate, Barbara Taylor, 25, summoned police and an ambulance. While Miss Hudock fought against treatment at Mission emergency hospital, Dr. Edward Blasdel sutured the ragged edges of the tongue but was unable to graft the severed sections. He predicted she would recover and that she held an "even chance" of being able to talk again.

Europe Hears

planning with Germany to divide Europe into Nazi and Communist spheres of influence. Russia's demands on Finland for naval control of the Gulf of Finland may be followed by similar pressure for naval facilities in Norway, Sweden and Denmark, according to Scandinavian fears.

For centuries the Scandinavian countries have been at peace with the world. Finland is standing resolutely against Russia, and has a large and well-trained army ready to protect her frontiers. But the Pacific-Scandinavian countries have small armies, no compulsory training, and little equipment to wage a war.

Sweden already has mobilized 100,000 men and sent most of them northward to the Finnish frontier, and the three Scandinavian countries plus Finland could mass 1,000,000 soldiers, but they would hardly be formidable enough to halt for long the advance of Russia's army of more than 1,400,000 trained troops.

Scandinavia's main hope, therefore, rested on Germany—in spite of the ever-closer tie-up between Moscow and Berlin.

The belief in Stockholm, Oslo and Copenhagen was that while Berlin tolerated Russian expansion into the Baltic, Germany would not countenance extension of similar red influence to Sweden, Norway and Denmark.

Defiant Finland, meanwhile, added to its defenses by mining the waters around the Hangoe peninsula—the very territory where Russia would like to establish fortifications and a naval base to safeguard the entrance to Leningrad.

On the French-German front affairs remained quiet, although patrols continued their reconnaissance activities and kept open the possibility—albeit the chance grows more remote—that an offensive may yet be opened this fall. Rain began falling again on the Western Front, washing out the possibility that drying weather would permit the start of a German push.

The one remaining center of international attention, the storied American freighter City of Flint, presumably continued her way down the Norwegian coast without territorial waters, and was due to pass the port of Bergen some time today, still in charge of her German prize crew.

yet submitted to the electors," he declared. The Bigelow initiative petition amendment, lowering the number of signatures required to get an issue on the ballot, is second to the pension proposal in importance, Neffner said. He predicted its defeat.

Neffner said the Civil Service referendum was "merely a political issue and probably will be overlooked by many voters. The amendment proposing the creation of a department of education, presented through the practically unanimous vote of the members of the 93rd General Assembly also will be voted on by less electors than the Bigelow amendments, Neffner said.

TEN TOWNSHIPS TO CONTRIBUTE FOR FIRE TRUCK

Chief Wise Tells Council
Definite Appropriation
By County Awaited

COSTS ARE ESTABLISHED

Officials Tell Solicitor
To Check Up On All
Legal Phases

Fire Chief Talmer Wise reported to councilmen Wednesday night that ten townships, Pickaway, Muhlenberg, Madison, Washington, Wayne, Scioto, Circleville, Walnut, Jackson and Harrison have agreed to participate in the cooperative program with the city and county for a fire truck. This truck would be used for rural runs and on dangerous city fires.

Wise said the truck being considered would cost $4,685.50. Horse for the outfit would amount to $1,090 including 800 feet of two and a half inch hose and 200 feet of inch and a half hose. This would make a total amount of $5,775.50.

Next step in the program will be for the commissioners to make a definite appropriation for the truck. Two commissioners have agreed to pay between $1,500 to $1,700 for the truck. The balance would be divided by the townships. The city would house, man and maintain the equipment.

Councilmen instructed Carl C. Leist, solicitor, to check up on all legal phases with regard to the city's participation in the program for a report at the next meeting of council.

CHURCH LEADER BLENN D. BALES JOINS FIGHT ON HEADS UNIT OF BIGELOW PLANS MASONIC LODGE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2 — A new foe to the Bigelow "50 at 60" pension scheme to be placed before Ohio voters next Tuesday was revealed today with the declaration by Bishop James J. Hartley, head of the Columbus diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, that Catholics throughout the state would vote "decidedly against it."

"It is a great mistake for our people to follow radical leaders in their efforts to promote radical legislation," he asserted.

"The U. S. Congress and our own state Legislature have already made reasonable and most benevolent provision for the support of our old people," he added. "The proposed new amendments are radical, unjust and unwarrantable. They will increase the already too heavy tax on our working people and home owners."

The bishop blamed the practice of dropping elderly employees from payrolls because of their age for many of the pension demands by "so-called old people."

"It used to be that a man was not considered old until he was 75 or 80 years of age," the bishop commented.

Blenn D. Bales, West Main Street, was elected Wednesday evening by Pickaway Lodge F. & A. M. as worshipful master for the next year. He succeeds Finus Heraldson, Watt Street.

Other officers chosen for the ensuing year include A. Ray Plum, senior warden; Joseph C. Peters, junior warden; George E. Hammett, treasurer; M. B. Trout, secretary; Russell Lape, senior deacon; Earl Weaver, junior deacon; Charles Bell, tyler; F. E. Heraldson, trustee.

The officers were installed by Leslie D. May, past master, with Theodore Steele acting as marshal.

Backache, leg pains may be danger sign Of Tired Kidneys

If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention. The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day. If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of pen and energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder. Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

The Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

(Continued from Page 4) Russian before the World War, is one step in this direction. Rumania cannot possibly keep it from falling into Russia's lap. Bulgaria long has been friendly to the Soviet and will be the next to fall.

But Stalin's chief objective, according to diplomatic advisers, will be Istanbul and European Turkey. This was his aim during the Turkish negotiations, which broke up two weeks ago because Russia wanted to place three divisions of the Red Army on the Dardanelles. Now Stalin's tactics are to reach the Dardanelles through Bulgaria and the Balkans. So in the end he may get what he wants—the age-old Russian demand for an outlet to the Mediterranean Sea.

NOTE—Soviet Russia's ambitions are no different than the Czar's. The Czar penetrated Siberia with the Trans-Siberian railway to reach the sea at Vladivostok. Now Soviet Russia, still reaching for the sea, has ambitions in Norway, Finland and Turkey.

SHORT WHIRLS

Weikun Chiang, second son of General Kai-shek, is in Washington preparing for an infantry training course in a U. S. Army school. He has already had three years of military training with the German army. When a Washington newspaper asked him for an interview, young Chiang shook his head. "Father told me to keep my mouth shut," he said. . . . Crockett Justice McReynolds has begun the new Supreme Court term by playing hookey whenever he can. . . . Jerome Frank, Chairman of SEC, won a gold Phi Beta Kappa key for high scholarship at Chicago University, but doesn't wear it. His explanation: "I lost it in a Paris night club fifteen years ago." . . . British Ambassador Lord Lothian will make his second public address at Swarthmore College Armistice Day, November 11. As director of the Rhodes Trust, Lothian has long known Swarthmore's President Frank Aydelotte, American Secretary of the Trust.

SENATOR TAFT

Especially hard hit by war and neutrality were the ambitious political plans of Senator Bob Taft.

It was not supposed to be known, but he had scheduled a strategy meeting in Cleveland for September 3. Expected to attend were ex-Vice President Charles G. Dawes and Trubee Davison, former Assistant Secretary of War.

Taft also has been flirting with Roy St. Lewis, Assistant Attorney General under Hoover, to act as his campaign manager, especially in the South and Southwest.

Hoover, Hitler invaded Poland on September 1, so it was felt unwise to meet two days later. Taft has been absolutely non-partisan, and a staunch supporter of Roosevelt regarding neutrality. Now that politics is getting back to normalcy, however, you can look for the Taft campaign to make up for lost time.

"MELLOWING" HAROLD IKES

For six years of the New Deal, Harold Ikes was the crustiest member of the Roosevelt Administration. The venom which he spewed at big business frequently came out also in his own staff meetings.

Government associates were scared of him. Congressmen came out of his office either cowed or disgruntled. "You never can tell," they used to say, "when he is going to bite your head off."

But for the past year, a new Ikes has been at the helm of the Interior Department. The old irascibility has passed. It is a friendlier, more cordial Secretary who now greets callers.

And it was done through the softening influence of a red-headed, understanding young woman. She has mellowed the toughest member of the Cabinet, and the Interior Department is giving Mrs. Harold Ikes a vote of thanks for what she has done for the state of the Union.

TWO THANKSGIVINGS

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Because of President Roosevelt's action in shifting Thanksgiving Day a week ahead this year, Lehigh University students will observe two "Thanksgiving Days" next month. Students will get holidays on both November 23, the new date for the observance, and on the traditional, but abandoned date of November 30. However, one day will be clipped from the Christmas holiday recess to make up for the loss of class attendance.

CITY'S TEACHERS HEAR SPECIAL QUESTIONS AIRED

Circleville teachers met Wednesday afternoon to hear a discussion of issues for the November election.

C. R. Barnhart, a member of the Board of Education, spoke in the interest of the renewal of the three mill levy for school purposes. The Bigelow amendments were attacked by Atty. T. A. Renick. A discussion of the proposal to establish a state board of education was conducted by Dick Smith, assistant state director of education.

Sami Johnson, president of the Circleville Teachers Association, presided.

Ministers and teachers are said to live longer than persons in other professions. Out of every 1,000 clergymen, 34 exceed the age of 80.

CHURCH LEADER BLENN D. BALES JOINS FIGHT ON HEADS UNIT OF BIGELOW PLANS MASONIC LODGE

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2 — A new foe to the Bigelow "50 at 60" pension scheme to be placed before Ohio voters next Tuesday was revealed today with the declaration by Bishop James J. Hartley, head of the Columbus diocese of the Roman Catholic Church, that Catholics throughout the state would vote "decidedly against it."

"It is a great mistake for our people to follow radical leaders in their efforts to promote radical legislation," he asserted.

"The U. S. Congress and our own state Legislature have already made reasonable and most benevolent provision for the support of our old people," he added.

"The proposed new amendments are radical, unjust and unworkable. They will increase the already too heavy tax on our working people and home owners."

The bishop blamed the practice of dropping elderly employees from payrolls because of their age for many of the pension demands by "so-called old people."

"It used to be that a man was not considered old until he was 75 or 80 years of age," the bishop commented.

Blenn D. Bales, West Main Street, was elected Wednesday evening by Pickaway Lodge F. & A. M. as worshipful master for the next year. He succeeds Finus Hershman, Watt Street.

Other officers chosen for the ensuing year include A. Ray Plum, senior warden; Joseph C. Peters, junior warden; George E. Hammett, treasurer; M. B. Trout, secretary; Russell Lape, senior deacon; Earl Weaver, junior deacon; Charles Bell, tyler; F. E. Hershman, trustee.

The officers were installed by Leslie D. May, past master, with Theodore Steele acting as marshal.

BACKACHE, LEG PAINS MAY BE DANGER SIGN
Of Tired Kidneys
If backache and leg pains are making you miserable, don't just complain and do nothing about them. Nature may be warning you that your kidneys need attention.

The kidneys are Nature's chief way of taking excess acids and poisonous waste out of the blood. They help most people pass about 3 pints a day.

If the 15 miles of kidney tubes and filters don't work well, poisonous waste matter stays in the blood. These poisons may start nagging you with backaches, rheumatic pains, leg pains, loss of backache, energy, getting up nights, swelling, puffiness under the eyes, headaches and dizziness. Frequent or scanty passages with smarting and burning sometimes shows there is something wrong with your kidneys or bladder.

Don't wait! Ask your druggist for Doan's Pills, used successfully by millions for over 40 years. They give happy relief and will help the 15 miles of kidney tubes flush out poisonous waste from the blood. Get Doan's Pills.

Russian before the World War, is one step in this direction. Rumania cannot possibly keep it from falling into Russia's lap. Bulgaria long has been friendly to the Soviet and will be the next to fall.

But Stalin's chief objective, according to diplomatic advisers, will be Istanbul and European Turkey. This was his aim during the Turkish negotiations, which broke up two weeks ago because Russia wanted to place three divisions of the Red Army on the Dardanelles. Now Stalin's tactics are to reach the Dardanelles through Bulgaria and the Balkans. So in the end he may get what he wants—the age-old Russian demand for an outlet to the Mediterranean Sea.

NOTE—Soviet Russia's ambitions are no different than the Czar's. The Czar penetrated Siberia with the Trans-Siberian railway to reach the sea at Vladivostok. Now Soviet Russia, still reaching for the sea, has ambitions in Norway, Finland and Turkey.

SHORT WHIRLS

Welkan Chiang, second son of General Kai-shek, is in Washington preparing for an infantry training course in a U. S. Army school. He has already had three years of military training with the German army. When a Washington newspaper asked him for an interview, young Chiang shook his head. "Father told me to keep my mouth shut," he said. . . . Crockett Justice McReynolds has begun the new Supreme Court term by playing hokey whenever he can. . . . Jerome Frank, Chairman of SEC, won a gold Phi Beta Kappa key for high scholarship at Chicago University, but doesn't wear it. His explanation: "I lost it in a Paris night club fifteen years ago."

British Ambassador Lord Lothian will make his second public address at Swarthmore College Armistice Day, November 11. As director of the Rhodes Trust, Lothian has long known Swarthmore's President Frnak Aydelotte, American Secretary of the Trust.

Government associates were scared of him. Congressmen came out of his office either cowed or disgruntled. "You never can tell," they used to say, "when he is going to bite your head off."

But for the past year, a new Ickes has been at the helm of the Interior Department. The old irascibility has passed. It is a friendlier, more cordial Secretary who now greets callers.

And it was done through the softening influence of a red-headed, understanding young woman. She has mellowed the toughest member of the Cabinet, and the Interior Department is giving Mrs. Harold Ickes a vote of thanks for what she has done for the state of the Union.

SENATOR TAFT

Especially hard hit by war and neutrality were the ambitious political plans of Senator Bob Taft.

It was not supposed to be known, but he had scheduled a strategy meeting in Cleveland for September 3. Expected to attend were ex-Vice President Charles G. Dawes and Trubee Davison, former Assistant Secretary of War.

Taft also has been flirting with Roy S. Lewis, Assistant Attorney General under Hoover, to act as his campaign manager, especially in the South and Southwest.

Hoover, Hitler invaded Poland on September 1, so it was felt unwise to meet two days later. Taft has been absolutely non-partisan, and a staunch supporter of Roosevelt regarding neutrality. Now that politics is getting back to normalcy, however, you can look for the Taft campaign to make up for lost time.

"MELLOWING" HAROLD ICKES

For six years of the New Deal, Harold Ickes was the crustiest member of the Roosevelt Administration. The venom which he spewed at big business frequently came out also in his own staff meetings.

Government associates were scared of him. Congressmen came out of his office either cowed or disgruntled. "You never can tell," they used to say, "when he is going to bite your head off."

But for the past year, a new Ickes has been at the helm of the Interior Department. The old irascibility has passed. It is a friendlier, more cordial Secretary who now greets callers.

TWO THANKSGIVINGS

BETHLEHEM, Pa. — Because of President Roosevelt's action in shifting Thanksgiving Day a week ahead this year, Lehigh University students will observe two "Thanksgiving Days" next month. Students will get holidays on both November 23, the new date for the observance, and on the traditional, but abandoned date of November 30. However, one day will be clipped from the Christmas holiday recess to make up for the loss of class attendance.

CITY'S TEACHERS HEAR SPECIAL QUESTIONS AIRED

Circleville teachers met Wednesday afternoon to hear a discussion of issues for the November election.

C. R. Barnhart, a member of the Board of Education, spoke in the interest of the renewal of the three mill levy for school purposes. The Bigelow amendments were attacked by Atty. T. A. Renick. A discussion of the proposal to establish a state board of education was conducted by Dick Smith, assistant state director of education.

Sam Johnson, president of the Circleville Teachers Association, presided.

Ministers and teachers are said to live longer than persons in other professions. Out of every 1,000 clergymen, 34 exceed the age of 80.

PENSIONS AND COLLECTIVISM

GREAT public pension schemes like those of Colorado, and now agitated in California and Ohio, grow out of a curious misunderstanding of the nature of wealth. And they menace our American capitalist system.

They seem to assume that money is wealth, whereas money is merely printed paper or stamped coins or entries made in bank books. The Germans found that out, when they issued so much money that it took a billion dollars to buy a sandwich. We seem to be inching along in that direction nowadays, with our lavish pension schemes. We have a lot of gold bullion in the United States treasury to back our money; but suppose the world demonetizes gold!

It needs to be repeated endlessly that money is not wealth. Wealth does not come from a government printing press. Wealth comes only from the production of useful and desirable things, for which people are willing to work and save. Wealth doesn't grow on pension bushes.

The people who advocate vast public pension plans for people who can and should be provided for in other ways are not only misusing money and destroying faith in money, but are sapping private property and destroying private capitalism. If we rush into a deadly collectivism, it may be by this process of killing personal initiative and spreading a widening stream of pensions.

THE RIDING NATION

OTHER nations walk, or pedal their bicycles. America drives. This is the most obvious difference between us and the rest of the world.

It is all the more striking since the European war started. The Germans have had to lay up their few private cars, and the government took their tires to eke out the rubber supply for army trucks. Automobiles even in England and France are small and low-powered and beyond the reach of the vast majority of people. In the rest of the Old World, and indeed almost everywhere except in the United States and Canada, they are very scarce.

Here we have an average of at least one car per family. In boom years we have bought as many as 5,000,000 cars. Year before last we bought 4,000,000, and at least that volume of sales is expected for the 1940 models now on sale. We are said to pay for motoring about 10 percent of our national income. If so, most of us will say we get the worth of our money.

Suppose by some strange calamity all

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:

Up to the annual morning of soaped windows. And I must say that our local youngsters are undisputed world champions in that line. Well, soaping windows is better than some of the Halloween pranks played by my gang when I was a kid.

For many years I have believed that Coca Cola is just a pause that refreshes. Now, I have learned differently. Coca Cola is without doubt the best remover of Halloween soap from windows. It does the job thoroughly and quickly. Saw first evidence of the fact at Stevenson's furniture store where a boy was applying the soft drink to soaped windows and I thought him either a little wackie or not yet over the night before. But then I learned he had been sold the bottle by one of Frank Lynch's enterprising distributors and that the product was living up to the sales talk.

Harry Weil dropped into the office with his certificate of membership in the Guild of Former Pipe Organ Pumpers of America. Until then I never had heard of the organization. As a matter of fact I did not know that there ever was such a thing as a pipe organ pumper. All of that work has been done by electricity ever since I can remember. But Harry provided my "something learned every day" for me. Harry when a youngster pumped the pipe organ at the old First Presbyterian church, and he recalled that Bill Hamilton was the pumper at the Methodist church and that Harry Howard was the pumper at the old Catholic church. And I expect there are many more around whose activity Harry does not recall.

Met Denny Pickens on the street and did comment to the effect that the time must be near for his annual escape of winter in Florida. "Going next week," said Denny. "But not until after I vote against those Bigelow amendments. They are the craziest things I ever heard about. Except for them I would be in the South right now."

In came a booster for Bill Cady, seeking to clinch my vote for the mayor. Told him that his effort was without effect, for Bill already had clinched the vote with excellent service to the city. Bill has the time necessary to devote to the job and he devotes it. Probably not all of his official acts have been as I would have them, but the majority of them have been. He has been industrious, fair and impartial. What more can one ask of an official?

Wonder what has happened to the war in Europe? Saw a cartoon the other day setting forth that during a heavy exchange of artillery fire on the Western front that a cow had been killed. Folk who know tell me that this war is nothing like the last World War. Well, that is alright with me. Wouldn't it be glorious if warfare developed so far that battles could be fought without anyone losing life or limb. Maybe the nations of Europe are following out my idea that only the diplomats should fight. That being true, then it is certain no one ever would be hurt. Those birds are full of words and some other things, but they never yet have been actual belligerents.

Daily Washington Merry-Go-Round

BY DREW PEARSON AND ROBERT S. ALLEN,

POLITICIANS RUSH TO FIGHT

WASHINGTON—The sudden burst of speed now ending the neutrality battle is no accident.

Behind the abrupt shift in pace was a mounting restlessness among the politicians to get back to their political marbles. The rarefied atmosphere of nonpartisan statesmanship was too much for the boys. They wanted to get back to the familiar levels of domestic issues and electioneering.

This was true of both parties. The Republican National Committee had worked out an elaborate anti-New Deal publicity drive for this fall, which had to be shelved when Roosevelt called the special session. GOP generalissimos have been chafing at the bit ever since, for the longer their program is held up the less effective it will be.

Also, they are worried about the upsurge in Roosevelt popularity as a result of his international policy.

In the Democratic camp, the foreign development cut squarely across Jack Garner's churning boom and the ambitious soundings taken by managers of Paul McNutt. Both were in the midst of peppy drives when Hitler pulled the trigger and pushed them off the front pages.

The Garner camp is all set to start rolling again as soon as neutrality is out of the way. His managers have quietly sent word to state lieutenants to swing into action as soon as they get the signal; while Frank McHale, bulky campaign maestro for McNutt, is all set to resume his delegate-hunting.

HORSE LOBBY

Most members of Congress have become hardened to the various pressure groups the neutrality bill has spawned on Capitol Hill. But the latest group is bowling them over.

It's a horse lobby.

The American Humane Association is bombarding the legislators with fervent pleas to amend the neutrality measure so as to prohibit the shipment of horses and mules to the European battlefields.

"We can't burden the bill with any more amendments," quipped Representative John A. Martin of Colorado. "I think every member should vote 'neigh' on this question."

STALIN'S MOVE NEXT

Diplomatic messages from Europe indicate that Joe Stalin's next squeeze play will be in the Balkans, and that it may go even further than his semi-annexation of the Baltic states in the north.

What he is aiming at is a bloc of small nations under Soviet influence which will form a barrier between Russia and the rest of Europe. Bessarabia, which was our automobiles were wiped out of existence, with no chance of replacement. We could go back to the horse and buggy and bicycle and tricycle but we'd never be the same. The auto has not only provided pleasant transportation but given us a new life rhythm and driving power.

DIET AND HEALTH

Why Carrots Give Health

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHY ARE carrots considered a healthy food?

"Live for a fortnight on boiled carrots only if you would cure yourself of asthma," wrote John Wesley in his book, An Easy and Natural Method for Curing Most Diseases, 1769.

The reverend gentleman's opinion may not be scientifically exact so far as asthma is concerned, but it seems to indicate that carrots have dietic virtues.

They contain, like other yellow vegetables—corn, for instance—carotene, which is the base out of which the body manufactures vitamin A.

At Vichy, the famous French health resort, carrots have been fashionable for many years. Vichy is known as a resort for derangements of biliary digestion and liver ailments. Carrots form an important part of the cure, and are served in some form or another at every meal. Did you ever try carrot pancakes?

Here is the recipe:
Half a pint of carrot puree, two tablespoonfuls butter, one egg, one-half cup of milk, one cup flour, two tablespoonfuls of baking powder, salt. Stir the butter into half a pint of carrot puree. Make a smooth batter with the well-beaten egg and milk added to the flour, baking powder and a little salt. Put in the carrot puree, beat well together and cook like pancakes on a hot griddle greased with vegetable fat.

EDITOR'S NOTE: Dr. Clendening has seven pamphlets which can be obtained by readers. Each pamphlet sells for 10 cents. For any one pamphlet desired, send 10 cents in coin and a self-addressed envelope. The pamphlets are: "Three Weeks' Reducing Diet," "Indigestion and Constipation," "Reducing and Gaining," "Infant Feeding," "Instructions for the Treatment of Diabetes," "Feminine Hygiene" and "The Care of the Hair and Skin."

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

IF CORAL expected her: "It is Neal I want, and I'll have him, too," to draw a reply from me, she was mistaken. I resolutely kept my eyes on my paper and my pencil kept pace with her words.

"And now, Captain Lancy, I have certainly told you all you wish to know." Once more she was the drawly voiced, arrogant lady.

"Just one more question," smiled Lancy. His voice was so gentle and soft that Coral was entirely at her case. She literally jumped when it changed, and he snapped at her:

"To whom did you say 'Just what do you think you accomplished by last night's work? Are you going to try the same game tonight?'"

Her mouth actually dropped open in her surprise. "Why, I've already told you about that," she bubbled, without a trace of hesitation. "I spoke to Joseph Barry about that miserable automobile trick."

Lancy leaned back in his chair and relaxed. Coral's reply was too spontaneous to admit of guile. She was telling the plain truth this time if she never did again.

"And when did you ask him those questions?" Lancy's tone was smooth and low.

Coral's black brows worked swiftly. "Why, the very next night, of course," she explained. "We were walking over to my cottage after that stupid game of hide and seek."

"Thank you, Miss Easton. You have helped a great deal," Lancy was on his feet, ushering her out so deftly that she had no opportunity to say more, if she had wished to do so.

I could hear him talking to someone just outside. I didn't know if he wanted me to go or not, but I comforted myself with the thought that he hadn't told me to do so, and until he did I was sticking to my guns.

He barely glanced at me, as he came in, closely followed by Joseph Barry. How in the world did Lancy manage to have these persons jump to his command as he did? I learned later that he had picked upon Joseph Barry as the most likely person to have been conversing with Coral if Neal were eliminated. Barry, therefore, had been suavely shepherded by a trooper to prevent any collusion with Coral, which explains his being at hand.

"Take notes, Miss Gordon," Lancy's voice was curt, as he waved Barry to a seat. This interview was opening on a different note from the others.

"I've just had Miss Easton's version of what happened Sunday evening," Barry. Suppose you give me yours."

Barry's black eyes narrowed, and his lips parted in a disagreeable smile. I had had very little contact with him since I arrived at Winnetum. His beauty was slightly disturbing to a person used to ordinary members of the masculine sex. Now there was something about him which made my blood chill in my veins, although his voice was as smooth as mayonnaise as he answered the detective.

"Not much to that, Captain Lancy. We went over to the club here early, about ten, she said, so we started in good season. Something went wrong with the car, and we sat there a good hour and a half before a man came along who could help us. Luckily, he was a garage man and located the trouble in a few moments. I don't know a thing about automobiles."

"I see. Then there isn't any truth in the story that you maneuvered for a breakdown to prevent her from keeping an appointment with Dr. Peake?"

"Did Miss Easton say that?" Barry laughed, a low musical sound which yet sent a shiver up and down my nerves. "Women," with a sly glance in my direction, "are rather prone to dramatize a situation, don't you think, Captain?"

Lancy's unbelievably eyes were probing Barry's, but he manifested no discomfort. He even laughed again, a soft amused chuckle this time, which plainly attempted to align Lancy with him against the "women" mentioned.

"So there isn't any truth in the story she told?" By his tone the detective apparently accepted that they are better than they; no snob is really cultured.

Today's Horoscope

Those whose birthday is on this date will gain promotion in the near future, but will also be in danger of trouble through scandal. Be sure to exercise the utmost caution in all relations with the opposite sex. A child born today will be very tenacious and persistent, also he will be very fond of home. Coral's mouth actually dropped open in her surprise.

Barry's statement. "Hu-um!" Lancy's shapely fingers caressed his chin. "Yet she insists the story is TRUE."

From under partly dropped lids Barry scanned the other's face. Suddenly he seemed to come to some mental decision.

"Captain Lancy," tell me, why the questions about what was purely a personal matter? Just how does our ride tie in to this murder investigation?"

"Just this way, Miss Easton was overheard to say: 'Are you going to try the same game tonight?' Naturally enough, it was immediately suspected that she was referring to the poisoning of Mrs. Rutherford and that the 'game' ended in Mrs. Peake's death. What have you to say to that?"

"Only this," Barry's face darkened angrily. "If Dr. Peake accused me of having anything to do with Mrs. Rutherford's poisoning or his mother's death, he's a liar. I want just one thing from Dr. Peake—for him to mind his own business, leaving Miss Easton alone. And I intend to have it."

Lancy's eyebrows lifted expressively. "I did not say that it was Dr. Peake who overheard Miss Easton speaking."

"You did not say so, but who else would have bothered to listen to our conversation?" Barry's temper was rising. His eyes blazed and his shapely lips were drawn back into an almost animal snarl.

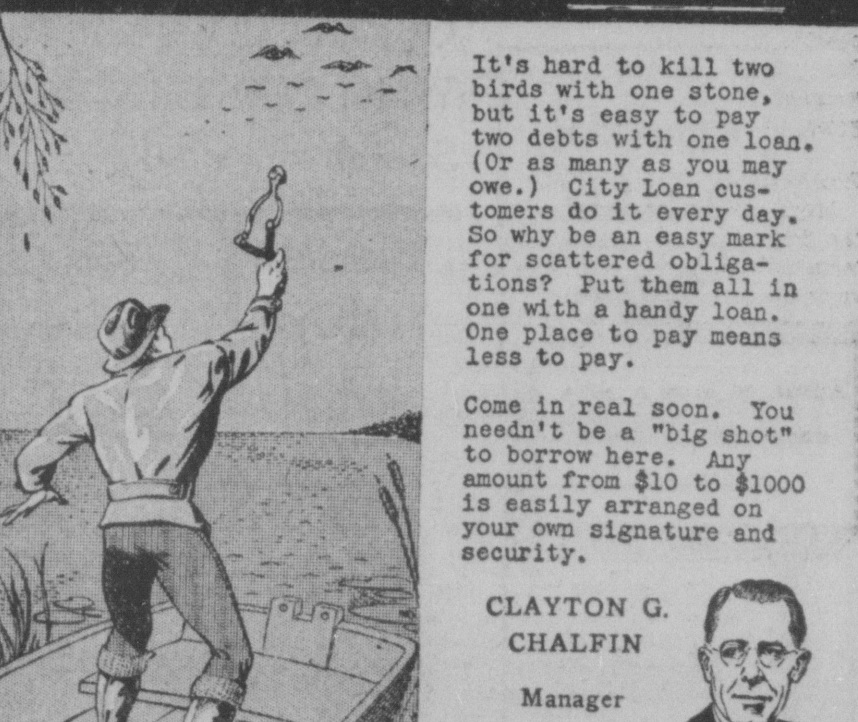

"Why should I bring her back to meet him, when I—I who have loved her for years—? He stopped, and with an effort, conquered his rage. And the very fact that he was thus able to leash it made him a far more formidable opponent.

"I did not understand the inferences which could be drawn from my—er—prevarication," he continued smoothly. "Yes, I did put the car out of commission. I would have done more than that to prevent her from meeting him that night. Ever since she met him, she has changed to me. We were to be married—it has been planned for years—she meets this young doctor, a mere boy, and I am tossed to one side. But he shall not have her. She is mine, mine, I tell you, and she shall marry no one else!"

His cleft chin lifted itself haughtily, and I was willing to admit that, if it were not as out-jutting as Bruce Orton's, it betrayed just as much ruthlessness and determination. Confronted with Josie's love for Alan Murray, Bruce Orton professed himself willing to step aside if that were her wish. Barry, having heard Coral announce her engagement to Neal, still flatly declared his unswerving intention to marry her. Orton would play fair. He had al-what changeable and of a frivolous disposition. He or she would be successful in government employment.

Automobiles even in England and France are small and low-powered and beyond the reach of the vast majority of people. In the rest of the Old World, and indeed almost everywhere except in the United States and Canada, they are very scarce.

Here we have an average of at least one car per family. In boom years we have bought as many as 5,000,000 cars. Year before last we bought 4,000,000, and at least that volume of sales is expected for the 1940 models now on sale. We are said to pay for motoring about 10 percent of our national income. If so, most of us will say we get the worth of our money.

'ROUND CIRCLEVILLE Hour by Hour

PAGES from the Diary of an Antiquated Reporter:
Up to the annual morning of soaped windows. And I must say that our local youngsters are undisputed world champions in that line. Well, soaping windows is better than some of the Halloween pranks played by my gang when I was a kid.

For many years I have believed that Coca Cola is just a pause that refreshes. Now, I have learned differently. Coca Cola is without doubt the best remover of Halloween soap from windows. It does this job thoroughly and quickly. Saw first evidence of the feat at Stevenson's furniture store where a boy was applying the soft drink to soaped windows and I thought him either a little wackie or not yet over the night before. But then I learned he had been sold the bottle by one of Frank Lynch's enterprising distributors and that the product was living up to the sales talk.

Harry Weil dropped into the office with his certificate of membership in the Guild of Former Pipe Organ Pumpers of America. Until then I never had heard of the organization. As a matter of fact I did not know that there ever was such a thing as a pipe organ pumper. All of that work has been done by electricity ever since I can remember. But Harry provided my "something learned every day" for me. Harry when a youngster pumped the pipe organ at the old First Presbyterian church, and he recalled that Bill Hamilton was the pumper at the Methodist church and that Harry Howard was the pumper at the old Catholic church. And I expect there are many more around whose activity Harry does not recall.

Met Denny Pickens on the street and did comment to the effect that the time must be near for his annual escape of winter in Florida. "Going next week," said Denny. "But not until after I vote against those Bigelow amendments. They are the craziest things I ever heard about. Except for them I would be in the South right now."

In came a booster for Bill Cady seeking to clinch my vote for the mayor. Told him that his effort was without effect, for Bill already had clinched the vote with excellent service to the city. Bill has the time necessary to devote to the job and he devotes it. Probably not all of his official acts have been as I would have them, but the majority of them have been. He has been industrious, fair and impartial. What more can one ask of an official?

Wonder what has happened to the war in Europe? Saw a cartoon the other day setting forth that during a heavy exchange of artillery fire on the Western front that a cow had been killed. Folk who know tell me that this war is nothing like the last World War. Well, that is alright with me. Wouldn't it be glorious if warfare developed so far that battles could be fought without anyone losing life or limb. Maybe the nations of Europe are following out my idea that only the diplomats should fight. That being true, then it is certain no one ever would be hurt. Those birds are full of words and some other things, but they never yet have been actual belligerents.

POLITICIANS RUSH TO FIGHT

WASHINGTON—The sudden burst of speed now ending the neutrality battle is no accident.

Behind the abrupt shift in pace was a mounting restlessness among the politicians to get back to their political marbles. The rarefied atmosphere of nonpartisan statesmanship was too much for the boys. They wanted to get back to the familiar levels of domestic issues and electioneering.

This was true of both parties. The Republican National Committee had worked out an elaborate Anti-Deal publicity drive for this fall, which had to be shelved when Roosevelt called the special session. GOP generalists have been chafing at the bit ever since, for the longer their program is held up the less effective it will be.

Also, they are worried about the upsurge in Roosevelt popularity as a result of his international policy.

In the Democratic camp, the foreign development cut squarely across Jack Garner's churning boom and the ambitious soundings taken by managers of Paul McNutt. Both were in the midst of peppy drives when Hitler pulled the trigger and pushed them off the front pages.

The Garner camp is all set to start rolling again as soon as neutrality is out of the way. His managers have quietly sent word to state lieutenants to swing into action as soon as they get the signal; while Frank McHale, bulky campaign maestro for McNutt, is all set to resume his delegate-hunting.

HORSE LOBBY

Most members of Congress have become hardened to the various pressure groups the neutrality bill has spawned on Capitol Hill. But the latest group is bowling them over.

It's a horse lobby.

The American Humane Association is bombarding the legislators with fervent pleas to amend the neutrality measure so as to prohibit the shipment of horses and mules to the European battlefields.

"We can't burden the bill with any more amendments," quipped Representative John A. Martin of Colorado. "I think every member should vote 'neigh' on this question."

STALIN'S MOVE NEXT

Diplomatic messages from Europe indicate that Joe Stalin's next squeeze play will be in the Balkans, and that it may go even further than his semi-annexation of the Baltic states in the north.

What he is aiming at is a bloc of small nations under Soviet influence which will form a barrier between Russia and the rest of Europe. Bessarabia, which was our automobiles were wiped out of existence, with no chance of replacement. We could go back to the horse and buggy and bicycle and tricycle but we'd never be the same. The auto has not only provided pleasant transportation but given us a new life rhythm and driving power.

DIET AND HEALTH

Why Carrots Give Health

BY LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

WHY ARE carrots considered a healthy food?

"Live for a fortnight on boiled carrots only if you would cure yourself of asthma," wrote John Wesley in his book, An Easy and Natural Method for Curing Most Diseases, 1769.

The revered gentleman's opinion may not be scientifically exact as so far as asthma is concerned, but it seems to indicate that carrots have dietetic virtues.

They contain, like other yellow vegetables—corn, for instance—carotene, which is the base out of which the body manufactures vitamin A.

At Vichy, the famous French health resort, carrots have been fashionable for many years. Vichy is known as a resort for derangements of biliary digestion and liver ailments. Carrots form an important part of the cure, and are served in some form or another at every meal. Did you ever try carrot pancakes?

Here is the recipe:
Half a pint of carrot puree, two tablespoonsful butter, one egg, one-half cup of milk, one cup flour, two tablespoonsful of baking powder, salt. Stir the butter into half a pint of hot carrot puree. Make a smooth batter with the well-beaten egg and milk added to the flour, baking powder and a little salt. Put in the carrot puree, beat well together and cook like pancakes on a hot griddle greased with vegetable fat.

Not "Just Growing Pains"

What are "growing pains" in children?

Duchamp, a French orthopedic surgeon, coined the phrase in an essay in which he pointed out that children suffer from muscular pains and aches. "Just growing pains," as a phrase, is a great comfort to parents. But that sort of comfort is dangerous because the phrase often cloaks some serious condition. Jacobi, the famous New York children's specialist, pointed out that growing pains in many instances were manifestations of rheumatism.

Effect of Oil on Gallbladder

R. K.: "Does mineral oil or olive oil have any effect on the gallbladder?"

Answer: It has been demonstrated that the gallbladder muscle which opens into the intestine responds to the presence of any kind of fat. Therefore, olive oil will open the gallbladder. Mineral oil is not fat and has no effect other than that of a general cathartic.

CHAPTER THIRTY-SIX

IF CORAL expected her: "It is Neal I want, and I'll have him, too," to draw a reply from me, she was mistaken. I resolutely kept my eyes on my paper and my pencil kept pace with her words.

"And now, Captain Lancy, I have certainly told you all you wish to know." Once more she was the drawily voiced, arrogant lady.

"Just one more question," smiled Lancy. His voice was so gentle and soft that Coral was entirely at her ease. She literally jumped when it changed, and he snapped at her:

"To whom did you say 'Just what do you think you accomplished by last night's work? Are you going to try the same game tonight?'"

Her mouth actually dropped open in her surprise. "Why, I've already told you about that," she bubbled, without a trace of hesitation. "I spoke to Joseph Barry about that miserable automobile trick."

Lancy leaned back in his chair and relaxed. Coral's reply was too spontaneous to admit of guile. She was telling the plain truth this time if she never did again.

"And when did you ask him those questions?" Lancy's tone was smooth and low.

Coral's black brows worked swiftly. "Why, the very next night, of course," she explained. "We were walking over to my cottage after that stupid game of hide and seek."

"Thank you, Miss Easton. You have helped a great deal," Lancy was on his feet, ushering her out so deftly that she had no opportunity to say more, if she had wished to do so.

I could hear him talking to someone just outside. I didn't know if he wanted me to go or not, but I comforted myself with the thought that he hadn't told me to do so, and until he did I was sticking.

He barely glanced at me, as he came in, closely followed by Joseph Barry. How in the world did Lancy manage to have these persons jump to his command as he did? I learned later that he had picked upon Joseph Barry as the most likely person to have been conversing with Coral if Neal were eliminated. Barry, therefore, had been suavely shepherded by a trooper to prevent any collusion with Coral, which explains his being at hand.

"Take notes, Miss Gordon," Lancy's voice was curt as he waved Barry to a seat. This interview was opening on a different note from the others.

"I've just had Miss Easton's version of what happened Sunday evening, Barry. Suppose you give me yours."

Barry's black eyes narrowed, and his lips parted in a disagreeable smile. He had had very little contact with him since I arrived at Winstanley. His beauty was slightly disturbing to a person used to ordinary members of the masculine sex. Now there was something about him which made my blood chill in my veins, although his voice was as smooth as mayonnaise as he answered the detective.

"Not much to that, Captain Lancy. We went over to the club. Miss Easton wanted to get back here early, about ten, she said, so we started in good season. Something went wrong with the car, and we sat there a good hour and a half before a man came along who could help us. Luckily, he was a garage man and located the trouble in a few moments. I don't know a thing about automobiles."

"I see. Then there isn't any truth in the story that you maneuvered a breakdown to prevent her from keeping an appointment with Dr. Peake?"

"Did Miss Easton say that?" Barry laughed, a low musical sound which yet sent a shiver up and down my nerves. "Women," with a slight glance in my direction, "are rather prone to dramatize a situation, don't you think, Captain?"

Lancy's unbelievably eyes were probing Barry's, but he manifested no discomfort. He even laughed again, a soft amused chuckle this time, which plainly attempted to align Lancy with him against the "women" mentioned.

"So there isn't any truth in the story she told?" By his tone the detective apparently accepted

Coral's mouth actually dropped open in her surprise.

Barry's statement. "Hu-um!" Lancy's shapely fingers caressed his chin. "Yet she insists the story is TRUE."

From under partly dropped lids Barry scanned the other's face. Suddenly he seemed to come to some mental decision.

"Captain Lancy," tell me, why the questions about what was purely a personal matter? Just how does our ride tie in to this, murder investigation?"

"Just this way. Miss Easton was overheard to say: 'Are you going to try the same game tonight?' Naturally enough, it was immediately suspected that she was referring to the poisoning of Mrs. Rutherford and that the 'game' ended in Mrs. Peake's death. What have you to say to that?"

"Only this!" Barry's face darkened angrily. "If Dr. Peake accuses me of having anything to do with Mrs. Rutherford's poisoning or his mother's death, he's a liar. I want just one thing from Dr. Peake—for him to mind his own business, leaving Miss Easton alone. And I intend to have it."

Lancy's eyebrows lifted expressively. "I did not say that it was Easton speaking."

"You did not say so, but who else would have bothered to listen to our conversation?" Barry's temper was rising. His eyes blazed and his shapely lips were drawn back into an almost animal snarl.

"Why should I bring her back to meet him, when I—I who have loved her for years—" He stopped, and with an effort conquered his rage. And the very fact that he was thus able to leash it made him a far more formidable opponent.

"I did not understand the inferences which could be drawn from my—er—prevarication," he continued smoothly. "Yes, I did put the car out of commission. I would have done more than that to prevent her from meeting him that night. Ever since she met him, she has changed to me. We were to be married—it has been planned for years—she meets this young doctor, a mere boy, and I am tossed to one side. But he shall not have her. She is mine, mine, I tell you, and she shall marry no one else!"

His cleft chin lifted itself haughtily, and I was willing to admit that, if it were not as out-jutting as Bruce Orton's, it betrayed just as much ruthlessness and determination. Confronted with Josie's love for Alan Murray, Bruce Orton professed himself willing to step aside if that were her wish. Barry, having heard Coral announce her engagement to Neal, still flatly declared his unswerving intention to marry her. Orton would play fair. He had already proved that. I am willing to bet that Barry doesn't know what fair play means.

I looked at him, while these thoughts ran through my head. His voice was as low, even and smooth on his last word as it had been on his first, but his entire frame was quivering, and his long fingers were clenched into ugly looking fists.

"I can't see what reason you could have had to kill Mrs. Peake," Lancy said, as though thinking aloud. "She was determined that her son should not marry Miss Easton. Her will shows that. She—"

"Who do YOU think killed her?"

Lancy shot the question at Barry so suddenly that I jumped.

Barry's entire frame stiffened. A film seemed to shoot over his face. The animation he previously showed was stilled. No one looking at him could gain any idea of his thoughts. His broad shoulders shrugged expressively. His voice was absolutely toneless, as he replied:

"I haven't the slightest idea. How should I have?"

"If you have," snapped Lancy, "it is your duty to tell it."

"But I haven't. And, if I had, I should hesitate to make a guess which might be as misunderstood as was Miss Easton's statement to me."

"Anything you may say won't be misunderstood. I'll take care of that," Lancy spoke sternly. "Murder is murder. What do you know or suspect?"

Barry's eyes widened. "Not a thing!" His voice was blandly assuring. Looking at him, I didn't believe one word he said. If he didn't know anything, then he suspected something. Such immobility of countenance was not normal. Why, I would have showed more emotion in discussing the death of a tramp dog. The faint suspicion which had been in my heart for days sprang to full growth. If Joseph Barry didn't kill Mrs. Peake himself, he was mixed up in it in some way. He knew something. I was positive. Lancy felt the same way, I told me later. But, when I demanded why he didn't arrest Barry at that moment, his reply was that suspicion was not certainty and there wasn't one scintilla of proof.

"Very well, you may go," he snapped now, and Barry, with a smile which made me want to throw the inkwell at him, swaggered out.

"Now what?" I demanded, as Lancy did not speak again.

"It's the toughest case I've ever handled," he declared. "I can't believe your young doctor did it. Matricide is a crime I think he's not capable of performing."

BULLIES THUMP LOUISVILLE IN EXHIBITION GO

PORTSMOUTH, O., Nov. 2—The Columbus Bullies, pace-setters in the American Professional Football League, looked for new worlds to conquer today after handing a 20-to-0 drubbing to the Louisville Tanks in an exhibition game in the Portsmouth Municipal Stadium.

The league-leaders started slowly, but after a scoreless first quarter their attack began functioning under the sparking of Bob Davis. The Columbus squad scored in the second period when Sam Busich fell on a blocked punt behind the Tanks' goal line.

A third quarter Davis-to-Reupke lateral accounted for 20 yards and another seven points. Davis skirted left end for the final tally in the last quarter, climaxing a 52-yard advance. Busich converted after the first two touchdowns.

Two field goal attempts by Jack LaBay, Columbus substitute back, went wide of the crossbar.

The Tanks never threatened the Columbus pay-dirt stripe, and marked up only two first downs to the 14 registered by the Bullies. About 2,000 fans witnessed the charity contest.

CHALLEDON MAY PASS EARNINGS OF TURF GREATS

BALTIMORE, Md., Nov. 2—W. L. Brann's Pimlico special winner, Challedon, may be the one to surpass the earnings of Sun Beau, the world's largest money-winning thoroughbred.

So the turf gossip ran today following his notable triumph in a thrilling duel with Charles S. Howard's game Kayak II by half a length before 20,000.

Challedon has earned this year $185,535, giving him a big margin over Kayak II, winner of the $100,000 Santa Anita handicap.

Challedon's total earnings amount to $252,235, above even the amount won by the great Man O' War.

Sun Beau won $376,744. Challedon, in winning the special, took down the entire purse of $10,000.

LOU GEHRIG MAY BE PUT IN FAME'S HALL AT ONCE

NEW YORK, Nov. 2—Lou Gehrig may be voted into the baseball Hall of Fame this winter.

Although ineligible under the rule which decrees that a player must be out of the game for a year, there is a disposition among the nation's sports writers to waive the rule in his case.

Bill Brandt, head of the National League service bureau, who annually tabulates the votes, said today that present indications are that Rogers Hornsby and Rube Waddell may make the Hall of Fame this year.

FORDHAM TO PLAY MAJOR TEAMS THROUGHOUT 1940

PRINCETON STAR MAY LOSE RIGHT LEG, BADLY HURT

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2—There was one chance in a million today that Don Herring, the 21-year-old 6 foot, 5 inch, 235-pound Princeton football hero, may escape amputation of his left leg which was badly injured in last Saturday's game against Brown.

Herring himself has not been told of the seriousness of his injury. Perhaps tomorrow, or the day after, if it becomes necessary, the news that he may lose his leg will be broken to him.

Last Saturday was a banner day for the Princeton Tigers. They beat Brown 26 to 12, winning on their home grounds against Brown for the first time since 1903.

Herring, husky right tackle, was carried off the field on a stretcher in the first quarter. His left knee was smashed when he crashed into the Brown team while converging with his teammates to run interference for the receiver of a kick.

It was later found three main arteries in the leg were severed and that there was danger of gangrene. As explained by his father, Donald Grand Herring, Sr., of the class of 1907 at Princeton and once himself a Tiger griddier, it is a million-to-one possibility that a little capillary tube in the leg may be distended enough to do the work of the broken arteries. Unless that is possible, Don will have to lose his leg.

BO AND SCHMIDT ANTICIPATE BIG SCORE IN GAME

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—With both Indiana Coach Bo McMillan and OSU coach Francis Schmidt stressing offense, fans who are planning to be present in Ohio Stadium Saturday afternoon today looked forward to another free-scoring melee.

The Hoosiers have Hal Hursh, one of the big ten's best passers while Scott of the Buckeye forces is no slouch when it comes to hurling the pigskin.

Both teams have lost but one game this season, Indiana's defeat coming at the hands of Iowa early in the campaign while the Buckeyes lost to Cornell last week.

The Buckeyes were favored to win, however, and keep their conference record clean. But the fact that Indiana is always hard for the Scarlet and Gray to beat was not being overlooked by the OSU coaching staff.

BIGGEST CROWD OF YEAR TO SEE BLUE LION TILT

Tigers Believe They May Surprise League's Top Gridiron Squad

RIGHT END REPORTED ILL

Washington C. H. Requests 300 Student Tickets For Contest

The largest crowd of the fast-waning football season is expected to swarm to the high school field Friday evening when Coach Roy M. Black's Circleville Tigers try to stop the march of the Washington C. H. Blue Lions toward the South Central Ohio League title. The Fayette team is riding the crest of a string of victories marred only by a 23-6 defeat by Chillicothe and a tie by London.

The Blue Lions defeated Wilmington 7-6 while the Hurricane drubbed the Tigers 41-13. However, London held Washington to a scoreless draw and defeated Greenfield 9-6. Circleville whipped Greenfield 26-12.

Coach Black believes that his boys may surprise the Washington varsity. The team realizes that it can remain in the fight for a tie in the SCO with a victory and is expected to play accordingly. Bob Bowsner's "promotion" to a tackle job should do much to steam up the line. "Bow's" fight should prove an incentive to the Tiger forward wall and Black is pointing out that a hard smashing line that hurries the Blue Lion ball carriers is the best defense the team can have against the passing attack of Steve Shay's warriors.

Howard Orr Ill

The Red and Black may be without the services of Howard Orr, regular right end, when play starts. "Orrie" was out of school Thursday with a heavy cold that threatened to develop into grippe. Whether he will be ready for action is not certain. Paul Jackson, tall sophomore end, will likely get the call if Orr is unable to start. Jackson's pass snagging ability has been improving and his defensive ability has been developing. Playing beside Bowsner may be just what the doctor ordered for him.

The Tiger backfield will include Smith at quarterback, Jenkins and Eby

PRINCETON STAR MAY LOSE RIGHT LEG, BADLY HURT

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 2—There was one chance in a million today that Don Herring, the 21-year-old 6 foot, 5 inch, 235-pound Princeton football hero, may escape amputation of his left leg which was badly injured in last Saturday's game against Brown.

Herring himself has not been told of the seriousness of his injury. Perhaps tomorrow, or the day after, if it becomes necessary, the news that he may lose his leg will be broken to him.

Last Saturday was a banner day for the Princeton Tigers. They beat Brown 26 to 12, winning on their home grounds against Brown for the first time since 1903.

Herring, husky right tackle, was carried off the field on a stretcher in the first quarter. His left knee was smashed when he crashed into the Brown team while converging with his teammates to run interference for the receiver of a kick.

It was later found three main arteries in the leg were severed and that there was danger of gangrene. As explained by his father, Donald Grand Herring, Sr., of the class of 1907 at Princeton and once himself a Tiger griddier, it is a million-to-one possibility that a little capillary tube in the leg may be distended enough to do the work of the broken arteries. Unless that is possible, Don will have to lose his leg.

BO AND SCHMIDT ANTICIPATE BIG SCORE IN GAME

COLUMBUS, Nov. 2—With both Indiana Coach Bo McMillan and OSU coach Francis Schmidt stressing offense, fans who are planning to be present in Ohio Stadium Saturday afternoon today looked forward to another free-scoring melee.

The Hoosiers have Hal Hursh, one of the big ten's best passers while Scott of the Buckeye forces is no slouch when it comes to hurling the pigskin.

Both teams have lost but one game this season, Indiana's defeat coming at the hands of Iowa early in the campaign while the Buckeyes lost to Cornell last week.

The Buckeyes were favored to win, however, and keep their conference record clean. But the fact that Indiana is always hard for the Scarlet and Gray to beat was not being overlooked by the OSU coaching staff.

Many From Washington

Washington C. H. has requested Circleville school officials to send 300 student tickets for distribution there. Several hundred townspeople are expecting to follow the Washington C. H. team to Circleville.

The contest is being booked as "Dad's Night," fathers of Tiger squad members to be seated on a bench within the playing area. Each will wear a number on his back corresponding with the number of his son's uniform.

The portrait of Lincoln which appears on five dollar bills is from one made a year before his death, in 1865. This was his wife's favorite portrait of him with a beard.

Washington C. H. Requests 300 Student Tickets For Contest

The largest crowd of the fast-waning football season is expected to swarm to the high school field Friday evening when Coach Roy M. Black's Circleville Tigers try to stop the march of the Washington C. H. Blue Lions toward the South Central Ohio League title. The Fayette team is riding the crest of a string of victories marred only by a 23-6 defeat by Chillicothe and a tie by London.
